Schumann-Heink Delights Large Audience Here

"Mother" Schumann Sings Straight To The Hearts of a Thousand Music Lovers In Closing Music Festival Program.

Schumann-Heink has added another thousand to her enormous list of enthusiastic admirers.

Last Friday night, the closing evening of the Fifth Annual Spring Music Festival, this great contralto sang herself straight into the hearts of a huge audience which filled practically every seat in the College auditorium.

Much was expected of Schumann-Heink. But the veteran singer of a half century popularity gave the crowd all the thrills it expected—and then some. Her voice captivated her hearers from the first number. But her personality!

No wonder she is called "Mother Schumann-Heink" and loved by all who know her or have ever heard her sing. Without her wonderful voice she would be the smiling, human, motherly woman who would win your heart.

And the renowned Madame, who has received tons of flowers during her long and successful career, was noticeably moved when she was presented with flowers at the close of her first group. To Mary Todd, who presented her roses from the Twentieth Century Club, the noted singer had smiles and a gracious bow of thanks. But to Lieutenant H. F. Lawrence of Battery B, representing the ex-service men of Maryville, this dear old mother of five boys and the National Mother of the soldiers for whom she sang so often during the war, had a broad smile, a handclasp and finally a kiss tossed to the soldier boy.

"Gee, but I'm happy," she said to herself but was audible to those on the front rows.

To comment on her program by one who knows little of music, would almost be sacrilege. The audience enjoyed every number. In some she showed her versatile voice to a greater advantage; in others she got closer to the hearts of her hearers. Her greatest applause probably came with her encore numbers of "Danny Boy," and "Waters of Minnetonka," the latter with violin obligato.

Even the dubious could not doubt her great ability after she sang her aria, "Ah Mon Fils," "When the Roses Bloom," and the dramatic work of "Erl King." Her songs in foreign tongues brought keen appreciation from the audience.

Sharing with Schumann-Heink in her triumph of the evening, was her pianist Julius Buerger, and her violinist, Miss Florence Hardeman. The work of Mr. Buerger as accompanist was outstanding and the star of the evening would have shown less brightly with a lesser light at the piano.

Miss Hardeman won her audience from her first number. That she is truly an artist with the violin cannot be doubted. Too much praise could not be accorded her for the manner in which she played her "Largo," and "Perpetuum Mobile."

In all it was a wonderful evening, one to be long remembered by the students, townspeople and the many from Northwest Missouri who heard this distinguished singer, on what was probably her last tour of the country.

Sunday Schumann-Heink sang before a crowd of five thousand persons in a Mothers' Day concert at Convention Hall in Kansas City. All of the proceeds of the concert went to the disabled veterans' fund.

The following is the complete program given here:

- (a) Mitrane Aria (Italian).....Rossi
- (b) Oh Rest in the Lord (From Elijah) (English).....Mendelssohn-Bartholdy

S. T. C. Debaters Win 5-0; Lose 3-2, This Week

Beaver and Yeo Win Unanimous Decision Against Warrensburg—Stone and Cook Nosed Out By Cape.

Debate Results

Maryville, 5, Warrensburg, 0 at Springfield.

Maryville, 2, Cape Girardeau, 3 at Kirksville.

Cape Girardeau, 4; Springfield, 1 at Warrensburg.

Warrensburg, 0, Kirksville, 5 at Cape Girardeau.

Springfield, 5, Kirksville, 0, at Maryville.

Debaters from S. T. C. won one unanimous decision and lost a 3 to 2 decision in the pentagonal debates of the Missouri Teachers' College held Monday night of this week. Burdette Yeo and Byron Beaver, debating at Springfield, won from Warrensburg and Floyd Cook and Paul Stone, debating at Kirksville, lost a 3 to 2 decision against Cape Girardeau. Each team was debating on a foreign floor and five local judges were used to judge each debate.

The Cape Girardeau Teachers College, winner of the state cup last year, will again hold position of the trophy this year. Cape Girardeau won two debates yesterday, one from Maryville and one from Springfield, making the total of victories for the two years at four.

Although Cape Girardeau won the cup again this year, this school received the same number of judges' decisions as did the Maryville team, which was second, each having seven out of a possible ten points.

Defeat a Surprise.

At Kirksville, the Maryville team of Floyd Cook and John Paul Stone was defeated by a 3-2 decision. In a telegram today, James R. Wallin, debate coach, said the decision was a surprise, because the general opinion was that the Maryville team would win by a unanimous decision.

Mr. Wallin said that both Maryville speakers were good but that the work of Cook was outstanding.

At Springfield, Burdette Yeo and Byron Beavers won a unanimous decision over the Warrensburg team. The local pair, accompanied by H. A. Foster, College instructor, returned to Maryville at noon today.

Cape Won Last Year.

The cup for which the teachers colleges debate is given each year to the school having won the greatest number of debates since the start of the pentagonal series. Cape Girardeau took the cup last year with two victories. (Continued on Page Two)

Philos Hear Mothers' Tribute by Mr. Leeson

"Lincoln, Emerson, Ruskin, John Quincy Adams and many other great men uttered essentially the same sentiment that all they were or ever hoped to be they owed to their mothers," Mr. Leeson told the Philomathean Literary Society last week in a fitting tribute for Mothers' Day. He reminded his hearers of the sacredness of motherhood as represented in the Bible story of Ruth's devotion to her mother, in the commandment to "Honor thy father and thy mother," and in the words of praise of the Psalmist, "Her children rise up and call her blessed."

Mr. Leeson expressed the idea that an outstanding event in the making of womanhood was when baby fingers played upon the heart strings of mother love and childish cares called upon her sympathy and unceasing devotion. He mentioned the custom of observance of Mothers' Day and expressed the hope that none of us would bring undue care or worries to our mothers.

The program included a reading of "Green Stockings" by Hazel Hawkins and a vocal solo by Faye Townsend.

Spring Festival Of Music Closes; A Grand Success

Musical Opera, "Messiah," Ver Haar, Preston, Manual and Williamson All Contribute To Make Fifth Annual Festival Pleasant.

The Fifth Annual Spring Music Festival of the College, an event which carried great anticipation into delightful realization, is now a pleasant memory and is still the topic of conversation and praise from all sides.

True it is that Schumann-Heink was by far the shining star of the Festival. But, even without her wonderful concert the Festival would have been outstanding and a remarkable success from all angles.

Unquestionably the music week of this year was better than any of its four predecessors. There were more programs, a wider range of music and a quality that would stand close scrutiny of the best critics. A large attendance marked practically every program and in most cases the performing artists were enthusiastically received.

The programs got off to a flying start last week with Planquette's musical opera, "The Chimes of Normandy." Nothing so entertaining and delightfully given has been staged by the students of the College for a long while. It is hard to tell what the audience was expecting but it was plainly visible, during the performance and in conversation afterwards, that all were pleasantly surprised.

Russell Allan, as the decrepit, miserly, old Gaspard, carried away the acting honors of the evening. Playing a difficult role, Allan stepped into the part with professional ease and won the highest commendations from the whole audience.

The crowd accorded the singing honors to Paschal Monk, as the frank, likeable Marquis of Corneville, who returned to claim his ancestral chateau. There certainly was nothing amateur about his stage presence, but it served only to enhance his pleasing baritone voice. Certainly Monk has possibilities in this field.

Elizabeth Mills and Marie Cloud, both favorites in musical circles in the College and in Maryville, made their positions more secure Monday evening. Miss Cloud, in the leading role of Germaine, was well cast and had little difficulty in winning her audience with her opening solo. Miss Mills was cast in the difficult role of the good-for-nothing Serpolette, but did justice to the part and brought glory to herself by her acting and singing.

Vernon Barrett sang the tenor roles well and furnished many laughs in his part of Jean Grenieheux, the fisherman. The village maidens parts were well taken by Opal Mallory, Ona Ross, Margaret Mills and Lora Claire Land-father. Mr. Bronson made a good Bail II and Chilton Ross performed well as (Continued on Page Two)

16 Girls Pass R. C. Life-Saving Tests

Applications have been made by sixteen College girls for life-saving emblems from the Nodaway County Chapter of the Red Cross. These girls have completed the work in the advanced swimming classes and have passed the necessary tests for the awards.

The girls who will receive these emblems are: Maurine Aebly, Lucy Allen, Maurine Allison, Adaline Bennett, Fern Bonner, Gladys Blessing, Marie Chandler, Roberta Cook, Virginia Dean, Helen Ruby Doak, Eloise Littell, Opal Mallory, Margaret Quinlin, Merle Shrove, Doris Shuler, and Mrs. William L. Mapel.

Miss Manley is instructor of these classes. Twenty-three children and forty-four older girls have passed the beginners' test in life-saving.

Teachers Here Go To Primary Meeting

Miss Holliday and Miss Carr of the Franklin School spent Wednesday and Thursday in Kansas City, attending the Convention of the International Association of Primary Teachers.

Many prominent educators in the field of primary education were on the program. Among the outstanding leaders there were Patty Hill of Teachers College, New York City; Alice Thompson, University of Chicago; and H. B. Wilson of California.

Advertise If You Want A Heavy Date

Some time ago the Courier portrayed to its readers the many and diversified uses of the bulletin board and commended the board for its faithful service to the College and to the students.

Now the faithful, dignified old board has been pressed into use to perform an unusual service—for a bulletin board. One notice discovered on the board last week ran like this:

"Dear Brutus: Meet me in the recreation room at 3:20 today, B. H. Dow."

It's funny that it took a faculty member to discover a new use for the board ahead of some of these lonesome lovers of the College.

Mr. Brink has been informed of the new thing Miss Dow has started and he has been instructed to produce additional bulletin boards in quantity upon short notice.

Council Launches Drive for Quiet Cleaner Campus

All College Organizations Co-operating In Move To Eliminate Useless Noise and Scattered Papers Over The Campus.

The Student Council drive for a cleaner campus and buildings and a more thoughtful student body is on.

The drive was launched last week by publicity and public admonition of Ray Blomfield, president of the Student Council, at Assembly. Already the effect of the drive is being noticed. Blomfield urged that the students help to make our campus outstanding in all ways. "If it is littered with trash and papers, it cannot be," he said. "Be thoughtful towards your campus and put chewing gum wrappers, candy papers and waste papers in the receptacles provided."

Not only is the Council endeavoring to help make a cleaner campus but pressure is being made for less noise in the halls. At every turn in the main building placards remind the students of the drive being sponsored by the Council. Some of them that caught the reporter's eye read as follows:

Courier Awarded Honor Rating in National Contest

S. T. C. Student Publication Scores 880 Out of a Possible 1000 Points To Place Second in Its Class—Wisconsin Paper First.

The Green and White Courier has won distinction in the field of college publication by being awarded an honor rating of second place in its class in the national contest held by the Central Intercollegiate Press Association, sponsored by the Journalism School of the University of Wisconsin. The Courier received a total of 880 points out of a possible 1000.

First place in this division went to the Echo Weekly, published by the State Normal School of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Third place went to The Ursuline Quill, Ursuline College, Cleveland, Ohio, and fourth place went to The Red and Green, Minot, N. D. State Teachers' College.

A very extensive and constructive score sheet has been received by the Courier, giving its rating and showing the weak points of the paper as indicated by the judges. Nine general fields were taken into consideration by the judges.

The following is the detailed rating of the Courier:

Miss Fisher Plans 3 Summer Courses

Miss Fisher, who is now at Columbia University on leave of absence, will return for the summer session at S. T. C. She will offer the following courses: Basketry, Industrial Arts for the Primary Grades, and Industrial Arts for the Rural School.

These courses are expected to be popular as Miss Fisher had 110 students enrolled in three classes last summer.

Pi Omega Pi Holds Initiation for Seven

Seven new members were taken into the Pi Omega Pi honorary commerce fraternity last Thursday afternoon in the initiation held in the recreation room. The members initiated were: Lola O'Day, Mrs. Grubbs, Helen Pauline Jones, Merea Williams, Marian Catterson, Margaret McMurphy and Homer Needles.

Who Pays Advertising, Class Seeks Answer

Advertising Class Is Sending Out Questionnaire To Ascertain From Farmers Their Opinions.

The class in advertising at S. T. C. is carrying on a research project that promises to be of great benefit to the class and to assemble some valuable information.

The scheme was given its start when three of the students, Fred King, Gordon Roach, and Wayne Burwell devised the plans for carrying it out and presenting it to the class. It immediately struck fire and the class voted to adopt the plan and appointed the above named students as a committee to prepare the details of the project and to secure the sanction of President Lamkin to carry it on.

The plan in short is this; the class under the leadership of the committee is to send out circular letters accompanied by a questionnaire to about 200 prominent farmers in this section of Missouri to determine what they think of advertising. The purpose of the questionnaire is to determine who the farmers think really pays the cost of advertising, and what is their attitude toward advertising in general.

The committee has already distributed, with the help of the class, about one hundred of the questionnaires to retailers in town to determine by the laboratory field method the effectiveness of the questionnaires. It is understood that the results of this experiment are not as yet known and that as soon as this information is secured the work of distributing the remainder of the letters and questionnaires will go on.

The class feels that it is rendering a valuable service by compiling this information. Students interested in advertising and commerce are watching with interest the outcome of the project.

17 H. S. Seniors Of College Are To Get Diplomas

E. H. Winter, Editor of Warrenton Banner To Deliver Address Next Wednesday—Class Play To Be Given Next Tuesday.

Fifteen students in the high school department of the College will be graduated and given degrees at their commencement exercises Wednesday, May 19. These exercises will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning. Two more seniors will finish their high school work at the close of the summer session.

Mr. E. H. Winter, present president of the Missouri Press Association will deliver the commencement address. Mr. Winter, for nineteen years, was editor of the Warrenton Banner and served as speaker pro tem in the last General Assembly of the Missouri Legislature.

The class play, "The Hoodoo," will be given Tuesday evening in the College Auditorium. Mrs. Mary Esther Murphy O'Banion has directed the play. The cast of characters is as follows:

The class in Dietetics 112 is doing some interesting work now in meal serving. Every Friday at 10 o'clock a complete meal is served in the College dining room. The following points are carefully considered in planning these meals: menu, market list, nutritive value and cost, recipe, correct proportions of proteins, carbohydrates, fat, mineral, and bulk, attractiveness in color scheme, garnishing, and manner of serving.

These meals are served for six people. The meal for May 7 was in charge of Julia Hankins, assisted by Wilma Robbins and was a balanced meal for a formal dinner party. The meal for May 14 is to be in charge of Faye Townsend assisted by Alleen VanZant. Operators are cordially welcomed.

Margaret Miller from 9:40 to 9:50 Friday.

Wesleyan Wins In Tri-College Meet Held Here

Methodist Men Show Heels To Bearcats and Tarks By Winning Ten Firsts—Bearcats To M. I. A. A. Meet This Week.

By winning ten of the sixteen firsts and a generous amount of seconds and thirds the tracksters of Missouri Wesleyan College collected 65 points to win the triangular meet from Tarkio and the Bearcats held here last Saturday.

Maryville was second with 43½ points and Tarkio was third with 33½. Tarkio won four firsts and Maryville won two. However, the Bearcats were strong on seconds.

Coy of Wesleyan was high point man with 15 points and Hollar of Maryville was second with 11 points.

This week Coaches Lawrence and Jones will take their track men to Springfield for the annual M. I. A. A. meet scheduled for Saturday. Advance dope points to Springfield and Warrensburg as being the two strongest teams.

The tennis tournament of the M. I. A. A. teams will be held at the same time. Coach Jones has not picked his tennis entries yet. Last year was the first in several years that the tennis tournament of the M. I. A. A. was not held.

The following is the summary of the various events:

100-yard dash—Shultz, Wesleyan, first; Ungles, Maryville, second; Preston, Tarkio, third. Time 10.4 seconds.

Mile run—Woods, Tarkio, first; Miller, Wesleyan, second; Wills, Tarkio, third. Time 4 minutes, 51.6 seconds.

National Music Week Recent in Origin

The Schumann-Heink concert last Friday brought to a close the Fifth Annual Spring Music Festival of the College. The Festival here suitably observed National Music Week which was generally observed over the country last week.

The first public mention of Music Week appeared in an editorial in the February 17, 1917, issue of the Music Trade Review, in which the statement was made that the National Bureau for the advancement of Music, located in New York, was planning to inaugurate a National Music Week.

It was apparent however, that a National Music Week could not be effective simply by announcing the fact and setting apart a specified week for the purpose. The public must be interested in the idea. The National Music Week idea was therefore held in abeyance until conditions were more propitious for its success and it remained dormant for two years and a half.

In the fall of 1919, Mrs. A. L. Harper, a music teacher in Dallas, suggested to the local Music Trade Association that Dallas have a Music Day in which all the musical people would participate. The music teachers were asked to hold receptions in their studios, the music stores to give free recitals. This Music Day took place on September 30, 1919, and was evidently successful, publicity being given to it in the daily press and the music trade journals.

The next step in the development of the idea was a Music Week in St. Louis, November 4-10 1919. This had the distinction of having a Music Week committee appointed by Mayor Kiel. It enlisted the support of the prominent musicians and directly led to the formation of a civic music association for the purpose of bringing about co-operation among the musical forces of the city. Apparently little public interest was aroused in Music Week, for it was not repeated the following year. The civic music association shortly became inactive.

The week following November 11-17, M. V. De Forest, a leading music merchant of western Pennsylvania, instituted a music festival and week of music in connection with the opening of his new ware rooms in Sharon, Pennsylvania. There is little doubt that in proportion to the size of the city there was more public participation than in any of the observances previously mentioned. The churches, schools, music clubs, Chamber of Commerce and other organizations participated and concerts were held in the De Forest ware rooms, throughout the week.

New York next took up the idea. A music week was accordingly planned for New York which was a demonstration to the rest of the country.

Information and news items concerning New York's first music week were sent to the press throughout the country, and judging from the clipping by the committee, publicity was given to the idea in nearly every state. The committee's records showed the receipt of clippings from newspapers in 92 cities, in 37 different states, in addition to 4,800 inches of publicity in New York City newspapers, which have a large out-of-town circulation.

New York undoubtedly gave the real impetus to the movement, for as a result of this publicity and the success of its Music Week, the idea spread rapidly and an increasing number of local observances were organized each year. Yet New York cannot claim priority.

Another claim for the origin of Music Week comes from Norman H. Hall and McCready, who inaugurated the National Week of Song, and is secretary and active head of that movement, which he believes to be the father of Music Week, for he considers the former the forerunner of the latter. If he is correct in this contention that Music Week is the natural and logical development of the week of song, and there is unquestionably much ground for this opinion, then Mr. Hall should be given the full credit as the originator of Music Week and the movement should be considered to date from 1915, when the National Week of Song was inaugurated unless we go back still further and call Music Week an outgrowth of the Music Festival. There is

Senior Class Will Give "Dear Brutus"

The Senior Class has started work on the well-known three-act play, "Dear Brutus" by Sir James M. Barrie, noted English playwright, for its senior play. The play will be given Thursday evening, May 27, during Commencement Week.

The play is being directed by Miss Dow, who has announced the following cast:

Lob, the host—Vernon Barrett.
Conde—Carlos Yehle.
Mrs. Conde—Faye Townsend
Purdie—Russell Hamilton.
Mabel Purdie—Myrtle Hankins.
Joanne Trout—Helen Marjorie Ferguson.
Lady Caroline—Mary Lois Carl.
Dearth—David Max.
Alice Dearth—Mrs. Evelyn Mapel.
Margaret—Blanche Anderson.

Even as You and I, Madam Ernestine Schumann-Heink Is Extremely Human

Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink is extremely human and quite like the rest of us common folks even though it is hard for some of us to realize it.

It seemed hard for many of us to believe it when told that she went to a downtown theatre Thursday night to see, "The Lost World," and then spent the remainder of the evening reading western stories.

"How I love the detective stories and those about the West," she told a downtown reporter. "I love the life of it all, the shooting, running and hiding."

"I feel young again since the wonderful way they received me at the Metropolitan this year," she said. "And then I am singing for a cause—my soldier boys. Maybe that's why my voice is as it always was. Don't you think so, maybe?"

When asked what course should be pursued by a young person who wishes to sing, "Mother" Schumann grimaced.

ed, shrugged, laughed and said, "The young person should first forget all the flattery of his friends. Then he should go to a teacher and find out if he has the voice for the training."

"I have heard so much about this method of teaching, and that method of teaching. I think it's all a big hullabaloo. The only method in the world is the method of breathing. That is the secret. Every person should know how to breathe."

Madame Schumann-Heink said that the small-town teacher is best. "He has an objective. He wants to train an artist. Too many of the big ones think only of the money. They charge $25 for 25 minutes of lesson, and then spend twenty minutes in preliminaries and the other 5 minutes preparing for the next pupil."

"Mother" Schumann finishes her present tour on May 18. Then she will rest a short time, and then will start on another. In two years she will retire. Then she will teach.

"The world has made me wealthy. I shall return my talent to the world. I shall teach all who come to me. And I shan't give them just 25-minute lessons."

Three Seniors Return

The ranks of the Senior Class have been increased by the return of three former students for the Short Course. Georgia Kepler, Anita Bielman, and Mrs. Ferd Masters will receive degrees by the end of the summer session.

Stanford Adopts New Captain Plan

Abolition of active football captains was effected at Stanford University by the Executive Committee of the Student body. Hereafter the position will be honorary and only awarded at the end of the season. An active field captain will be appointed for each contest by the coaches.

Initiative for this move came from the coaches. They favor the plan because it will give them more freedom in the selection of men to play in each particular game.

The innovation receives the support of the Daily Palo Alto.

The method of choosing captains in advance has not worked out to the satisfaction of all. After a player is selected he may go into a slump. As a result, the team benefits little by his leadership, and in some cases actually suffers, due to the justifiable hesitation on the part of a coach to "bench" the captain of his squad.—New Student News Service.

Give the Graduate a Bank Book

No gift at commencement time could be more appropriate or commendable than a bank book. His start in life or his way in College will be easier with the aid of a pass book from this bank.

Come in today and let us make out a book for your son or daughter, friend or relative, who is now completing his high school work.

You will have his grateful appreciation on the day of his graduation from high school.

Annual May Fete Planned for May 17

Each Class To Select A May Queen and One Will Be Crowned During Fete.

The Annual May Fete will be given this year at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of May 17, it was announced last week by Mrs. Evelyn Mapel, chairman of the committee in charge. The fete, which will be participated in by ward-school children of Maryville as well as College students, and will be given on the campus west of the administration building.

Elaborate plans are being carried out for the occasion. A unique feature of the plan is that the queen of the fete will not be chosen until it is in progress. Each of the four classes in the College will be represented by a queen. While the fete is in progress, three judges, Mrs. L. M. Eek, Mrs. J. Arthur Noid, and Miss Olive S. DeLuce, will choose the one who is to be crowned queen of the fete at its close.

There will be three may poles in the fete. Women's physical education classes of the College are now working on Maypole dances, as well as others which will be given at the fete.

Children from the second grade of the Garfield, Franklin and Jefferson schools will give dances. Boys from the fourth grade of the Washington school will appear in an Indian dance.

Thelma Reese will furnish the music for the entire program.

All of those in charge of the fete are student teachers in the College. The general committee is as follows: Mrs. Evelyn Mapel, Chairman; Roberta Cook, Blanche Pierpoint, Zelma Campbell, Mildred Estep, Martha Jane Pope, Rosella Froman, Lorene Bruckner, and Fern Alley.

Supervision Class Visits at Fillmore

Upon the invitation of Superintendent J. E. McKean of Willmore, Miss Shepherd and her class in supervision of instruction visited the Fillmore Public Schools last Thursday. The day was spent in visiting the various classes of the grade and high school.

Mr. McKean is to be commended on the fine spirit which his school displayed. Some excellent work was demonstrated by his teachers in penmanship, drawing, phonetic drill, and spelling. It is expected that there will be twenty-five penmanship diplomas awarded at the end of this term to students showing marked proficiency in the Palmer Method.

At noon time Miss Shepherd and the class were the guests at a luncheon given by Mrs. McKean. Only adjectives of the superlative degree can be used to describe the meal which was enjoyed by the class.

The Stroller

By T. T. T.

Well, for once in his life (not twice, maybe) the Stroller was sorry that he wasn't an old maid—and taught on the College faculty, so he could have attended the picnic given by this distinguished group of profs. Monday night. The Weather Man is surely married or he wouldn't have had it rain and made these blushing maidens take rain checks and go to the Newman Club for their picnic.

What did they do down there? Gosh, don't ask the Stroller for he sure wishes he did know. They might have gumbled for all we know. But one thing is sure that the next day every store in town had sold out its entire stock of Old Maid playing cards. One woman close to the Newman Club locked up her parrot and eat when she heard what was going to take place in her neighborhood. No, it would never do to call them Old Maids, even though they "humorously" apply the term to themselves. You see the Stroller has only "stags" for profs. now so hasn't any fear of his grades.

The Stroller was looking over the Home Economics exhibits in the hall this morning. She saw there a baby dress of fifty years ago—the modern co-ed could make two ample costumes from that dress. Right next to the fifty-year-old dress was one of modern times—it might be for a baby but the Stroller has noticed dresses exactly similar in size and style running around our halls. Even some of the Old Maids have been seen in similar dresses.

For some time, students in Eastern colleges have reported the fad of male students wearing marcel waves. We have feared an outbreak of the craze here and it seems that John Harvey is the first man we know of that has been caught with the goods on. It is understood that there is a woman in the case, as usual. For further particulars, see John.

Hurray for the "quiet halls" campaign now in progress by the Student Council. Wonder who else besides the Stroller, "Abbie" Bloomfield and Mr. Wallin have had their class slumbers disturbed.

Mr. Foster has been telling a good one on Byron Beaver. On the way up from Springfield Monday night, Beaver kept all his neighbors awake for the reason, so he said, that he was afraid to go to sleep. He said that he was afraid that he would wake up, and find that the debate had been lost.

Pulitzer News and Literary Awards Made

New York:—The Pulitzer gold medal for the most disinterested and meritorious public service rendered by an American newspaper in 1925 has been awarded the Columbus, Ga., "Enquirer Sun." The judges announced that the award was made for the journal's "brave and energetic fight against the Ku Klux Klan, against the enactment of a law barring the teaching of evolution, against the dishonest and incompetent public officials, against lynching and for justice to the negro."

William Burke Miller, of the "Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal," was awarded the $1,000 prize for the best example of a reporter's work, "for his work in connection with the story of the trapping in Sand Cave, Kentucky, of Floyd Collins." The test was strict accuracy, terseness and the accomplishment of some public good commanding public attention and respect.

For Best Editorial, $500

For the best editorial, selected for clearness of style, moral purpose, sound reasoning and power to influence public opinion in the right direction, due account being taken of the writer's work for the year, a prize of $500 was awarded Edward M. Kingsbury, of the "New York Times." The editorial was "The House of a Hundred Sorrows," published December 14, 1925.

D. R. Fitzpatrick of the "St. Louis (Mo.) Post-Dispatch," was awarded the $500 prize for the best cartoon of the year for his "The Laws of Moses and the Laws of Today," published April 12, 1925.

Sinclair Lewis was awarded the $1,000 prize for the best novel presenting the whole atmosphere of American life and the highest standard of American manners and innuendo. The book was "Arrowsmith."

"Craig's Wife" Wins Play Prize. "Craig's Wife," written by George Kelly won the $1,000 prize for the best original American play, performed in New York, best representing the educational value and power of the stage in raising the standard of morals, good taste and good manners.

The late Amy Lowell's "What o'Clock" was awarded the $1,000 prize for the best volume of verse. "The Life of Sir William Osler" by Harvey Cushing, was awarded the $1,000 prize for the biographical volume teaching patriotic and unselfish services. For the best book of history of the United States Edward Channing was awarded the $2,000 history prize for the sixth volume of his "History of the United States."

Miss Lucille Crews of Redlands, Cal., was awarded a $1,500 scholarship given annually to the student of music deemed the most talented and deserving.

Sinclair Lewis said last night at the Ambassador hotel here that he had not received official notification of the award.

Average Mo. Manual Training Salary, $1553

Statistics Class Also Shows That Average Salary in Missouri in Music Alone is $1310.29.

The average salary for manual training teachers in Missouri is $1553.00 and the average salary for music teachers is $1310.29, according to figures compiled by Mr. Loomis' class in statistics. These figures are based on teachers of only one subject. As other subjects are added to each of these the salary is proportionately lowered. The following figures on these two fields of teaching have been compiled by the class:

Manual training alone, 35 teachers, average salary, $1553.00
Manual training and one subject, 23 teachers, average salary, $1512.00
Manual training and two subjects, 19 teachers, average salary, $1408.00
Manual training and three subjects, 5 teachers, average salary, $1396.00

There is a total of 83 manual training teachers in the state with average salary of $1512.

In music there are sixty-five teaching positions in first call high schools for teachers who can teach music and two or more subjects. The following is the schedule:

Musical alone, 68 teachers, average salary, $1310.29
Music and one subject, 54 teachers, average salary, $1049.81
Music and two subjects, 45 teachers, average salary, $1153.33
Music and three subjects, 16 teachers, average salary, $1156.87
Music and four subjects, 3 teachers, average salary, $1775.00
Music and five subjects, 1 teacher, average salary, $900.00

High School Summer Class Schedule Out

Miss Margaret Franken has announced that the summer school schedule for high school students is completed. One unit courses will be offered wherever possible so that students enrolling from other schools may take three courses of the same subject and complete one unit of credit for the summer session. High School summer students have the privilege of taking four courses with a maximum credit of one and one third units. It is advisable that any one desiring to attend the summer session of high school will communicate with Miss Margaret Franken as soon as possible.

Students Learn of Alaska from Raine

Noted Traveler and Long-time Resident of Alaska Gives Interesting Lecture at Assembly.

Through the grandeur of mountains and the glory of lakes, through the lands of the midnight sun and the Aurora Borealis, through rapids and over glaciers, the students at Assembly last week were taken in an 1800-mile tour of Alaska by Edgar C. Raine, noted traveler, who used fifty-three colored slides to enhance his interesting lecture.

Mr. Raine has visited every village and town in Alaska not once, but many times. He "mashed" hundreds of miles through difficult trails to know more of Alaska. In his years of travel he has had many narrow escapes from death himself, and has found nineteen men frozen on the trail.

Being so dependent upon his dogs, he was very fond of them, and used the same dog team for eight years.

Mr. Raine told in an interesting way of the customs of the people. They, of course, are not highly civilized in all parts of the country. To illustrate, he told of a group of Eskimos, who on a certain feast day, would kill the older member of the tribe, but with the consent of either the one to be killed or some member of his family. Another rather suggestive custom is that of sending a coffin to a person seriously ill.

An annual event for the people of Fairbanks is the midnight baseball game which is started at 11:30. Probably because the game cannot be called on account of darkness, the score has run as high as 81 to 89.

The scenery of Alaska, he showed, to be as beautiful as it is varied. From the volcano in the "Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes" to snow covered Mount McKinley, is an endless procession of scenic beauty.

Fourth of U. S. in School Hoover Says

Education as a National Asset, was the subject for an address made by Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, before the Department of Superintendence, Washington, D. C., at their recent convention, and printed in the April issue of the Journal of the National Educational Association.

That one-fourth of the whole population of our country is going to school, is a proof of the vast influence which the teacher and school has upon our people.

Hoover says, "No nation in the world's history has so devoutly believed in, and so deeply pledged itself to, free universal education. In this great experiment America marches in advance of all other nations."

In order that we maintain our moral and spiritual fiber we must steadily improve our school system. If we would suppress it for one generation our civilization would decay.

"The spirit of democracy can survive only through universal education. What democracy requires is a training of mind that will permit an understanding of such problems and the formation of a reasonable opinion upon them."

In commenting upon the character of those who are teachers, Hoover says, "It implies a wealth of character, of tact of patience of quiet competence, to always be most utterly inconspicuous in a sensation-loving country."

The change from the "spare-the-rod-and-spoil-the-child" theory of character building to that of instilling of sportsmanship, leadership, and personal responsibility is improving character rapidly.

"Knowledge, however exact, is secondary to a trained mind and serves no useful purpose unless it is the servant of an ambitious mind, a sound character, and an idealistic spirit. Social values outrank economic values."

In closing his address, Hoover says, "I should say that your work then, is of three categories: The imparting of knowledge, and a trained mind, the training of citizenship, and the inspiring of ideals. Our nation owes you a debt of gratitude for your accomplishments in them."

the notary. The chorus, under Mr. Gardner, gave several pleasing numbers.

The Artists' Concert

Miss Edna Swanson Ver Haar, contralto, and Mr. Howard E. Preston, baritone, won high praise and generous applause from the audience Tuesday evening in their artists' concert. Both have excellent voices and each gave a well-selected program.

Mr. Preston won his audience with his first number "Salutation of the Dawn," with violin obligato well-played by Miss Dvorak. His last group of songs was probably the most popular with the audience.

Miss Ver Haar, with her pleasing personality and rich voice won commendations from all sides. Her aria, Jeanne d'Arc, probably showed her voice to the greatest advantage while her last group was probably the most popular with the audience.

The following is the complete program:

1. Salutation of the Dawn (Obligato played by Miss Dvorak) Stevenson
- (b) Allerseele ..... Straus
- (c) Der Seiger ..... Hahn
- Mr. Preston
2. (a) O del mio amato ben ..... Donaudy
- (b) Stomellatrice ..... Respighi
- (c) Nebbie ..... Respighi
- Miss Ver Haar
3. "Vision Fugitive" (from "Hero-diade") ..... Massenet
- Mr. Preston
4. Aria—Jeanne d'Arc ..... Bemberg
- Miss Ver Haar
5. (a) Nocturne ..... Curran
- (b) The Lone Dog ..... Homer
- (c) Orying of Waters ..... Campbell-Tipton
- (d) The Pirate Song ..... Parker
- Mr. Preston
6. (a) Deep In Love Was I ..... Rachmaninoff
- (b) Moon-Marketing ..... Weaver
- (c) Night ..... Suleer
- (d) South Winds are Blowing ..... Densmore

Miss Ver Haar

The College chorus of more than two hundred voices came in for its share of music week praise for the fine manner in which the "Messiah" was given Wednesday night. With all due credit to the soloists, the work of the chorus was outstanding.

But without the splendid work of the four soloists it wouldn't have been the "Messiah." Mr. Parvin Witte of Lincoln, took the tenor role with much ease and Mrs. Monica Graham Stults of Chicago, made the soprano numbers quite impressive. Miss Ver Haar, and

Mr. Preston, artists of the preceding evening appeared much at home in the contralto and bass solo parts.

The climax of the oratorio, the "Hallelujah chorus," was very impressive. At the first notes the audience rose to its feet and remained standing.

Mr. Gardner has done fine work with the chorus this year and Mr. Annett at the piano, was all the accompanist for such an oratorio should be. A stringed quartet composed of Miss Dvorak, Laura Belt, Maude Kibbe and Martha Haas, added much to the choral music.

The following is the program given.

1. Comfort ye my people ..... Recit. Accom. (Tenor)
2. Ev'ry valley ..... Air—(Tenor)
3. And the glory of the Lord ..... Chorus
4. Thus saith the Lord ..... Recit. Accom. (Bass)
5. But who may abide? ..... Air—(Bass)
6. And He shall purify ..... Chorus
7. Behold a Virgin shall conceive ..... Recit. (Alto)
8. O thou that tellest good tidings ..... Air—(Alto) and Chorus
9. For behold, darkness ..... Recit. Accom. (Bass)
10. The people that walked in darkness ..... Air—(Bass)
11. For unto us a Christ is born ..... Chorus
12. (a) There were shepherds ..... Recit. (Soprano)
- (b) And to the Angel of the Lord ..... Recit. Accom. (Soprano)
13. And the Angel said unto them ..... Recit. (Soprano)
14. And suddenly ..... Recit. Accom. (Soprano)
15. Glory to God in the highest ..... Chorus
16. Rejoice greatly ..... Air—(Soprano)
17. Then shall the eyes of the blind ..... Recit. (Alto)
18. (a) He shall feed His flock ..... Air—(Alto)
- (b) Come unto Him ..... Air—(Soprano)
19. His yoke is easy ..... Chorus
- Part II.
20. Behold the Lamb of God ..... Chorus
21. He Was Despised ..... Air—(Alto)
22. Surely He hath borne our griefs ..... Chorus
23. And with His stripes we are healed ..... Chorus
24. All we, like sheep ..... Chorus
25. Thy rebuke hath broken His heart ..... Recit. Accom. (Tenor)
26. Behold, and see ..... Ariso—(Tenor)
27. I know that my Redeemer liveth ..... Air—(Soprano)
28. Lift up your heads ..... Chorus
29. Why, do the nations? ..... Air—(Bass)
30. He that dwelleth in Heaven ..... Chorus

For the Graduate

Gifts Appropriate and Useful

The expectancy of youth is never greater than at the time of high school graduation. The whole world is before him and he expects great things.

He has completed a worthy task during his four years in high school. Naturally he expects to be remembered with gifts by his friends and relatives for this worthy achievement. Recognition of his efforts will encourage him to greater things. There is nothing he will appreciate more than useful gifts.

SHIRTS

With vestless and coatless weather just around the corner there is nothing he would appreciate more than a nice shirt. Especially if it is one of the new patterns and colorings we are now showing for the younger boys. To see these is to understand why he would appreciate one of them.

They are priced from 95c to $3.50

TIES

What boy has ever had enough ties? If he had a hundred, though, he would appreciate one of the new ones. New Jazz bows, bat wings, four-in-hands, in all new Susakana silks, Chenoyes and new summer foulards.

Priced from $.50 to $1.50.

HOSE

A box of socks, or even a pair of the new colored ones, designed in good taste, would please any graduate. These are the famous Interwoven socks, nationally known for their wearing qualities. You can buy them for 50c, 75c and $1.00 per pair.

His Graduation Suit

Your boy has achieved success in the scholastic field and he is entitled to clothes that bespeak that success. Bring him in to select that all important suit. You'll be pleased to see him leave with his head up and increased confidence in himself.
